

Content Roadmap 2026 - Strategic Planning Document

2026 Content Strategy

This roadmap outlines our content investment strategy for 2026 based on performance data, audience research, and competitive analysis. Our core thesis: double down on Sci-Fi and Action IP while selectively expanding Historical Drama for international appeal.

Greenlit Projects - 2026

* Stellar Run: Void (Sci-Fi) - Budget: $150M | Release: Q3 2026 | Director: James Chen

* La

Comedy Strategy Pivot

Following two consecutive years of underperformance, the comedy slate will be reduced from 8 productions annually to 4 high-concept titles. The new criteria for greenlit comedy: original IP with proven audience demand, minimum 70% positive sentiment in pre-release testing, or partnership with an A-list comedy showrunner. Titles no longer in development: Rise & Shine 2, Joke's on You Again, Summer Laughs Abroad.

Stellar Run Franchise Strategy

Stellar Run has become our most valuable IP. The sequel, Stellar Run: Void, is approved with a $150M budget - 77% more than the original. James Chen returns as director. The franchise is projected to generate $350M+ in platform revenue. A third instalment is conditionally approved pending Void's performance. Ancillary revenue opportunities include: streaming licensing, a potential video game adaptation, and a Stellar Run-branded merchandise line.

Regional Expansion Targets

* New York City: Increase marketing spend by 25% - highest engagement-to-spend ratio

* To